the expenditure has been sanctioned. But the proposal to continue the local allowance and give a Spl allowance in addition cannot be sanctioned. Men to be employed at the fields would draw the local allowance. The men under training being having none of their ordinary pay during which they can be well kept on without any allowance. The excess will therefore be on the pay of the substitutes & this has been met by appropriation.

b)

How is the cost of 5 substitutes at Rs 20/- each arrived at? Will outsiders be appointed Head constables or Jamadars on Rs 20/- each? In cases like this a large department like the Police should be able to get on with the usual Reserves without employing outside substitutes. If this can be done there would be no objection to treat the men liberally as regards allowances proposed by the Dy. Mag.

The Dy. should have been able to state definitely what substitutes he proposes to supply & the exact cost. Instead of that he gives a vague reply in his letter of 27th Jan. from which nothing can be inferred. For example, if Duffadars are employed to act as Janadars & acting arrangements made in chain would the entire cost come to Rs 20/- a head?

12) However, as it is a non-recurring charge & the Dy. seems to be able to provide funds by reappropriation his proposals, with such modifications as may be deemed necessary, may be sanctioned. The allow to the Kolar men should be a higher consolidated allow (if a higher rate is considered necessary) for evidently Kolar local allow cannot be given
